Student Rescue Drive Grows In Momentum

by Barbara Miller

EFFORTS BY the Brigham Young University studentbody to bring two or more Hungarian students to this campus have caught fire in a growing schoolwide movement.

A group of students Tuesday formed the Hungarian Student Committee, the beginning force behind the crusade. It grew quickly into a campaign that includes most of the campus organizations, the Student Senate, the Daily Universe and every thinking student.

At a meeting Wednesday evening the committee was officially formed and concrete plans to start machinery rolling on the Hungarian aid project were drawn up. Chairmaned by Sally Ann Arnold, Redondo Beach, Calif., and Ralph Barney, Flagstaff, Ariz., the committee received official sanction from the Senate and immediately began working.

INVOLVED planning of transportation, visa problems, qualifications, books, clothes and housing were discussed and rapidly appointed chairmen took responsibility for many phases of the project.

Aid from Provo merchants and civic groups is being organized by Murray McInnes, Eagar, Ariz. He is collecting pledges for monetary aid and material goods.

All social unit presidents were contacted by Dick Bell, Inter-Social Unit Council president. A suggestion that all social units join in a coordinated effort to furnish money for room and board for two students for two years is being considered.

SERVICE units, led by Bruce Bilton, Inter-Service Unit Council president, have grouped together to pledge money for tuition. Geographical and departmental groups are being contacted by Ken Skousen, Inter-Geographical Unit Council president, in the hope that they can aid in either transportation or other expenses.

Religious units will also be asked by Marilyn McKnight, Inter-Religious Unit Council president, to aid in book costs.

Qualifications for these Hungarian students were drawn up by Phil Koldweyn, Glendale, Calif.; Rodney Fye, Salt Lake City; Leo Thomsen, Springfield, Ore.; and Kay Walker, Ogden.

Included are a fairly stiff set of requirements designed to select students who have some English ability, that are leaders among their own people and can truly benefit from educational experience at BYU.

THE COMMITTEE plans to contact the Swiss-Austrian LDS Mission president, who, armed with a list of the necessary qualifications, will begin the search for the students.

Only a few of the more than 12,000 student refugees in Austria will be reached by interviews and from the small group a nucleus of Hungarians most qualified will be chosen. Arrangements will then be made to get the students to the U. S. and then to a new life in Provo.

After the refugees' arrival in the United States every effort that can be put forth by all of the organizations on campus will be needed to assure the success of this crusade.

BYU Units Offer Aid

Response from Brigham Young University organizations and students is already building up aid for the Hungarian Student Committee.

The committee organized to bring a small group of Hungarian students to BYU was formed Wednesday evening.

Results from many of the service units in campus were rapid and tangible. Bruce Hilton, Inter-Service Unit Council president, reported that six service units have pledged money for tuition fees.

The Marine Corps League, Cougarettes, Spurs, White Key, Blue Keys, and Alpha Eta Omega unhesitatingly offered whatever monetary support they could.

Individual students too have responded to the appeal of the situation. Two BYU men came to the Daily Universe office and offered clothing and money to be given to the students when they arrive at the University.

Relief Society Women Stage Yule Jamboree

BRIGHAM Young University Stake Relief Society is holding a Christmas Jamboree Saturday for all girls in BYU Stake.

The plan of the Jamboree is to give demonstrations of Christmas candies, cookies, breads and decorations. Demonstrations of gifts, gift wrappings and home decorations will also be given.

BYU Campus First Ward is sponsoring a bazaar in connection with the Jamboree. Gifts will be on display in the Wyoming Chapel Saturday from 10 a.m. to 11.30 a.m. and will go on sale at 1 p.m. Children's wear, embroidery work, jewelry, baked goods, and baby quilts will be included in the display.

ROUND ROBIN sessions for attending the demonstrations will begin at 2 p.m. and will last until 4 p.m. Candy demonstrations will be held at 113B Ship Hall; cookies at 13B Snow Hall, breads at 133 Wells Hall; beverages at Snow Hall gameroom; home decorations at Ship Hall game room; and gifts and wrappings at Wells Hall gameroom.

EACH SESSION will last 20 minutes and it is suggested that women attend them according to the following list: First, through Fifth wards begin at Ship Hall. Sixth through Eleventh wards begin at Wells Hall; and Twelfth through Seventeenth begin at Snow Hall. This order has been designated in order to avoid confusion. However, coeds who are unable to meet this schedule may attend whatever sessions possible.

BYU Stake Home Management Director, Marilyn Blaylock, Buhl, Ida., is in charge of the Jamboree. Mrs. Ernest L. Wilkinson, Stake Relief Society president, and her counselors, Mrs. William C. Booth and Mrs. Joan Smoot , have also done much work in organizing this Christmas Jamboree. It is the first Relief Society project done on a stake basis this year.

Eagle Flies Checks To BYU Veterans By December 12

Veterans Administration has guaranteed to get November checks out to veterans by Dec. 12 instead of Dec. 20, provided that the pay-forms are signed by Dec. 4 without changes of address.

The Veterans Dept. in Maeser Building will be open Saturday this week until 3 p.m. in order to assist in getting these forms signed early.

Veterans who will not be returning to school for the Winter quarter, will sign December (advance) pay-forms during examination week before they leave the campus. Other veterans will sign on Jan. 2 at special table at registration at the Veterans Dept. in the East Gym.

All veterans whether new or returning will be required to have a list of their classes on that day.

Veterans who attend both fall and winter quarters will be paid through the Christmas vacation unless they specify otherwise when they sign the December pay forms.

First Frosh Paper Readied For Issue

First edition of the freshmen frosh newspaper, "Voice 60" will be distributed Dec. 7 in freshmen English classes.

Distribution of the paper is to be handled by Thes Alexis, freshmen women's service unit.

Activities Set For Students Over Vacation

Christmas activities are being planned for a holiday of fun for those students remaining on campus during the holidays.

A questionnaire has been sent to students who will be on campus after Dec. 12 asking for their opinions about Christmas activities.

According to Floy Moody, Inter-Dorm activity chairman, the final results will be tallied and definite dates will be set for the activities. Results will be announced in the Daily Universe.

Tentative plans have been set up, according to Miss Moody, which include movies, a holiday party, an ice skating party at Utah Lake, Dresden, Christmas caroling, a get-acquainted social, a candy pull, a Christmas dance, and a visit to the State Hospital.

Assisting Miss Moody in her plans are Jeri Adams, Betty Sardioni, Carol Ann Maxfield and Kaye Burrup, all of Provo.

President Expected To Leave Hospital

President Ernest L. Wilkinson was expected to be released from the Latter-day Saints Hospital in Salt Lake City Thursday or Saturday, according to Mrs. Alice Wilkinson.

The Brigham Young University president was taken to the hospital last week for a complete check up. He had been recuperating from a heart attack suffered Oct. 8th.

Mrs. Wilkinson said the president's doctors report that he is doing "very well" and progressing normally.

No date has been set for his return to work.

Productive Session Reported By Student Senate President

WEDNESDAY'S session of the Brigham Young University student Senate was one of the most productive this quarter, according to Dennis Olsen, Senate president.

The Senate along with a majority of the other student organizations voted to support the drive to bring two Hungarian students to the BYU campus.

Senator Maxine Stuart reported on the problem of saving seats at assemblies. Several suggestions were made.

THE QUESTION of ushering at lyceums was discussed and proposals made. Legislation is forthcoming on both problems.

A week devoted to married couples on the BYU campus was suggested by Luanna Wortham, junior Senator. A "baby derby," buggy parade, and a baby king and queen were proposed.

The report on the progress of the Student Participation Committee was made by freshman senator Rich Hunter. This group would prepare and maintain a file containing student interests and qualifications.

JANICE HULL, Elections Committee chairman presented several proposals for change of the Spring elections. Legislation will be proposed in a future meeting.

Musicians Plan Concert

The Music Department of Brigham Young University will present its annual Christmas Concert Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Participating groups include the Concert Band, Symphony Orchestra, Men's Chorus, Women's Chorus, A Cappella Choir, Madrigal Singers, Opera Workshop, University Chorus and the Chorale Union.

Jane Harrison, junior Senator, reported concerning the problem of allowing social organizations to hold activities at the same time studentbody functions are held. Legislation is forthcoming.

A discussion was conducted on the selection of delegates to the National Student Association Congress. Several proposals were made before the bill was referred back to committee.

Announcement was made of the Steering Committee meeting to be held weekly with the studentbody president starting next quarter.

Nurse Information Meeting Scheduled For Freshmen Girls

Coeds inclined toward a nursing career should take advantage of opportunities afforded them by the nurse information meeting, according to Ruth Bloom, nursing instructor.

Such an opportunity is in the offering Monday from 4 to 5 p.m. and Wednesday 6:30-7:30 p.m. when L. Bernice Chapman, director of the school of nursing, meets with freshmen students enrolled in the school, as well as other students who may be interested.

Miss Bloom said these meetings are designed to give students an opportunity to discuss with Miss Chapman any questions they might have concerning the nursing school and its program.

All freshmen women are urged to attend one of these meetings which will be held in room 8 Nursing Building.

PUT THEM ON THEIR FEET

EACH ORGANIZATION, club and social unit at Brigham Young University has been asked to make a group contribution to the Hungarian Student Committee for bringing two refugee "Freedom Fighters" to BYU to help them take up the threads of their lost education.

These "Freedom Fighters," and there are considerably more than 12,000 student leaders of Hungary's violent revolt in Austrian refugee camps, gave up their right to an education—skimpy and distorted as it may have been under the Soviet influence—for something which they believed and for which they were willing to give their lives.

THE RESPONSE, which has been tremendous, shows that the organizations of BYU are more than willing to offer two of these students an education as a measure of gratitude and sympathy for these students in their heroic circumstances.

This revolution—spearheaded by students much like ourselves—may very well be one of the first and most vital of the steps which will lead to the downfall of Soviet tyranny and oppression in satellite countries.

ORGANIZATIONS are not being asked to solicit contributions from their membership, but to give a lump sum—as a group—which will be identified with the organization and which will serve to build unity and brotherhood in the units by virtue of common contribution to a noteworthy cause.

Student newspapers from throughout the country are flooding the Daily Universe office with tales of rallies, drives and projects to aid Hungarian refugees.

THESE DRIVES have been a tremendous success. Yale University organization pledged $2,000 to Hungarian aid at a rally early in November and the University of Colorado currently has a drive underway to raise money for bringing 11 Hungarian students to the United States and Colorado.

Service units in Provo have expressed an interest in participating in a project to sponsor foreign students at BYU and are being given an opportunity to help in this drive.

In order to bring these students to Provo, we need to be able to offer either books, clothing, room and board, tuition, jobs and transportation to Provo, or else money for these things.

A PLEDGE of support and assistance—no matter the size—from each group on campus will help BYU offer at least two Hungarian student "Freedom Fighters" an answer to their prayers—the chance to continue their education.

Groups should bring, or send, their pledges and donations to:

HAPPENS ONCE A YEAR

A drive, aimed at individual students, begins next week to raise money for Brigham Young University's Campus Chest Fund.

These collection will be distributed to various charities and organizations specified by the student Senate.

Instituted only in the past few years, the Campus Chest Drive has not been as successful as anticipated.

The drive is the only studentbody-wide fund raising drive of its type of the year and is also instituted to spare students from numerous appeals for the raising of funds, which compares with United Fund drives throughout the county.

Portions of these funds will go to such worthy causes as crippled children foundations, infantile paralysis work, Utah Heart Association, Crusade for Freedom, Salvation Army, Cancer Society of Utah County, Red Cross, Cerebral Palsy, Athens (Greece) College, and Hungarian Relief.

These causes are worthy enough for each student's consideration and donation.

In a person's college days, he is often inclined to rationalize, "But I need all I can get for my own welfare."

This may be partially true, but the time may come when each student may have occasion to call upon the facilities of these various organizations—and be grateful for their help.

Enough has been said about the Hungarian refugee problem so that each student should be in complete sympathy and willing to aid in the care and clothing of these refugees. A 28 percent share of the drive's proceeds are earmarked for Hungarian relief.

Think about this drive over the weekend and try to make allowances in your budget for a contribution to the 1956 edition of the Brigham Young University Campus Chest Drive.

Russian 'Wolfpack' On Their Heels . . .

Stark Horror Of Hungary Exodus Portrayed

ON THE AUSTRO Hungarian frontier, (INS) — Under a brilliant winter moon illuminating the desolate plains of Hungary loom the most macabre spectacles in all Europe today.

Thousands of men, women and children, oblivious of 20-degree below winds, struggle towards the promised land here. It means Austria and successes from Soviet military repression, deportation and summary executions.

So they come—and the total at this writing is more than 60,000—Russian troops frequently acting in amused boredom as wolfpacks at their heels.

I HAVE SEEN them cross the border indented with white and red Austrian flags, frequently with bitter cold. You do a double take sometimes.

Many of them are as naked as birds.

Because bridges have been blown up and footpaths over canals demolished, anxiety-torn Hungarians stripped off their clothes and waded or swam to sanctuary.

They tell now of Russian infantry on the prowl. Tank units are being deployed deeper into the country. Foot soldiers are doing the dirty work mopping up. And they have been playing cat-and-mouse hunts and hares with the Hungarians.

NO DETERMINED procedure appears to exist for sudden arrests and swift trans-shipment to the Soviet Union. Refugees told me they were penned up in meadows as they sought to negotiate the flatlands to the frontier. Without apparent rhyme or reason, first for young men between 15 and 25, adults are rounded up on the side and others are left free to continue their hazardous trek.

Now the law belongings a man or woman in flight takes is rudely stripped, especially watch ears.

"It's a big risk even taking off your clothes to cross the river," a young woman in her twenties told me. "You don't want to get them frozen. So you tie your clothes into a bundle or in a package on your head.

"You begin to get into the water. It's terribly cold and there is such a wind. But you must cross. You know what it is back there.

"You get across. Then you see Russian soldiers. They point their guns at you. Some even laugh. Perhaps they are even embarrassed. But they do point their guns. Sometimes they let you continue, sometimes not."

She arrived without a stitch. A frayed blanket beneath which she quivered with cold was all she had for a wardrobe. A new er realized lips could get so blue, yet seem of a deep dye, until I saw hers.

THE PREPONDERANCE of young women of Hungary. A great many are in their teens and early twenties. They talk apologetically about leaving Hungary.

"Some of my friends discussed it," a farm boy said. "We are now unarmed. We have seen

Art Exhibit, Sale Planned by BYU Guild

Original paintings and other work by Brigham Young University art students will go on sale next week when the BYU Art Guild sponsors a student art exhibit and sale.

Warren Wilson, faculty adviser for the guild, said that all types of art work will be exhibited, including ceramics, painting, jewelry, and craft work. Each of the items would make a wonderful Christmas gift, he said.

The exhibit will be open Monday in Fyhrie, in the showcases of the Eyring Science Center. The sale will be on an auction basis.

Articles will be numbered and buyers may write on a card the number of the article and the price they will pay, and drop the card in a box. When the bids are removed from the box at the end of the week, the artists will contact the bidders if the price they have listed is acceptable to the artist.

Contacts will be made during the week of finals, Wilson said. Many large campuses are competing this type of sale, according to Wilson. It is a good way to pick up original art work at a good price, he added.

Radio Program Puts Spotlight On Campus Groups, Activities

by Karen Larsen
Daily Universe Writer

DISC JOCKEY Don Van Noy, a Brigham Young University student from Oakland, Calif., spins records every day on KOVO's "Waxing at Wakefields."

Van Noy, broadcasting at 3:45 p.m. from a downtown Provo store, spotlights campus organizations and high school groups who are interviewed on his program.

HE SPINS the top popular records, as voted on by the guest group, as well as the top popular songs of the nation.

In "Nite Life News" Van Noy highlights BYU campus news and activities of interest in Provo.

Mary Ann Nelson, BYU student who will reign in Provo as "Miss Merry Christmas," has been interview on Van Noy's program several times.

A SENIOR, majoring in speech, Van Noy is planning a career in radio. He had previous experience in the broadcasting field when he worked for a radio station in Oakland, and when he newscasted on the San Francisco State College campus radio.

Besides his radio interests, Van Noy is a member of Val Hyrie, the Student Program Bureau and is superintendent of the seventh ward MIA.

MEETING CELEBRITIES such as Nat King Cole and Chet Baker is one of the reasons Van Noy finds disc jockeying so enjoyable.

He likes radio work because as he says "It's a lot of fun because I meet a lot of people I like talking to people."

Two other BYU students heard over the air are Harvey Merkely, Calgary, Canada, who announces "Music in the Hi Fi" and Bob Simmons, who emcees on his own "Bob Simmons Show."

Tausigs, C. Tigers Reach Intramural Football Play-Offs

In close, hard fought flag football this week the Tausigs defeated the Brigadiers, 14-13 and picked up another win on a forfeit from the Kule Katz.

Wednesday's play saw the Tausigs and Glendale West in an all out scramble for the right to do battle with the Chaffey Tigers to decide who will be this year's winner.

The Tausigs were again victorious, putting Glendale West on the short end of the score board, 21-19.

At press time the Chaffey Tigers, who have not yet been beaten in this year's play, were sharpening up their claws for the forthcoming fray with the Tausig team.

Cougars Face Rough Casaba Sta
As Northwesterners Invade Prov

by Mark Murphy

TALL TIMBER from the Northwest may more than satis fy Brigham Young University's appetite for high class hoop competition as the untested Cats face two Pacific Coast Conference biggies, Oregon State and Washington, Friday and Saturday.

Although taciturn head man Stan Watts may be reaching for some digestive aids before the weekend is over, the Cougars are determined to start the season on a winning note against the lofty powers from the Northwest.

BOTH OSC and Washington are expected to run away from the rest of their conference foes as they feature two of the nation's tallest and most experienced fives

Wily Slats Gill, Oregon State coach, will present one of the tallest teams ever faced by the Cougars and a talented performer in 6-7 forward Dave Gambee. Gambee is a cinch for All-Conference honors this year and made a convincing collegiate debut in '53, averaging 17.4 points per game and ranking fourth in total scoring.

REPORTS from Corvallis are that Gambee will have some equally tall and talented running mates. Bob Allord, a sophomore letterman, will open at forward for the Beavers along with Gambee. Allord is a Bevo shorty at 6-4.

Center for the Oregonians is lumbering Wayne Moss, 6-9, 226 pound junior.

Oregon State's backcourt men are short by comparison but ride shots and excellent playmakers. Jim Anderson, 5-9 and Lee Harman, 6-0, will handle the Beaver guard chores. They are both Sophomores.

OTHER BIG BEAVERS are Ralph Carroll, 6-5 reserve center along with Gary Goble who is also 6-8.

OSC plays a brand of ball very similar to the slow, purposeful play of Wyoming. The Beavers are traditionally a Pacific Coast powerhouse and have annually earned their nickname "The Tall Fire."

Coach Gill's Orange hoopsters are looking for national honors this year, and if several key Sophomore p l a y e r s come through as hoped, they may have nothing but frustration in store for the Class.

WASHINGTON'S Huskies are on a par with the Beavers in height and may be even a stronger force to overcome.

The Huskies have a genuine All-American candidate in 6-10 Bruno Boin, a Junior from Seattle. Boin was named All-Conference as a Sophomore after shattering the many scoring records held by former Husky All-American Bob Houberg.

BOIN'S chief offensive weapon, as it was with Houberg, is the hook shot. Bruising Bruno Boin hit 'em from all point distances.

Boin is not the only l boasting height and mac vance potice. 6-7 forward Smart has followed in the steps of Boin and has b Bruno's records as fast as he b break Houberg's.

ROUNDING out the Y squad are John Tuft, 6- ward and 6-3 guard Bill Bob Morris. 6-1 will alter down a guard post. All se are veterans of one hoop ye and are Juniors.

Coach Tippy Dye is s percent of fire-engine s warfare and should offer speedy Cats a test for vaunted fast break

THE HUSKIES are pl under the dark cloud of N punishment following an ex of the Seattle school's pro ing methods in a recently ing in the conference's bad ces the naughty Huskies ca be recognized as confere champs for two years nor they enter any NCAA tour

The Cougars are in the t of a rebuilding phase of t down cycle of bask fortunes.

And the awesome thoug meeting such potent team consecutive nights has kep Cougars tired at work in tice. However the Cute ha winning tradition to live u and are perpetually dangl on their home court

Both games will start t p. m.

The freshman basket squad will play in an intras game before the varsity c both nights.

The Kittens will begin game at 6 p. m.

All students will enter thr the west door of the fieldh beginning at 6 p. m. on activity cards. Tickets for student section will be h inside the fieldhouse, one t per student, on a first come s served basis.

Pokes In Running For Gator Bowl

The University of Wyoming is still under consideration for the Gator Bowl classic to be played Dec. 29 in Jacksonville, Fla., the Gator Bowl Association revealed.

However, Roger L. Malm, president of the association, stated Tuesday that the top prospect for the tilt appears to be Georgia Tech paired with either Navy or Pitt.

Main went on to add that several other teams, including the Cowboys, are still under consideration. The final decision will not be made until after this weekend's grid play.
